Pets add fun to Dog Days parade

Smith Village, 2320 W. 113th Pl., hosted its 11th annual Dog Days of Summer Pet Parade on July 20 with an assortment of animals dressing up and performing tricks for judges and spectators. For the first time, alpacas from the Chicago High School for Agricultural Sciences, Mikey and T.J., participated, accompanied by students Patrick Raymond and Amy Sundquist. Mitsy (bottom photo, right), owned by Kelly Blaha, took first place; Snuffles (left), owned by Mary Allen Riedel, was second; and Shenna (middle), owned by Tom Trinley and Carolyn Thomas Trinley, was third. Winners received prizes, and all competitors received doggy bags. (Review photos)
